GENERAL GRANT'S CONDITION.

NEW YORK, May [illegible].—Doctors Douglas, Shrady and Sands held a consultation at the house of General Grant this afternoon. As Doctors Shrady and Douglas were leaving the house they were questioned and said that Saturday night was one of the best with the general since the recovery began. He got [illegible] well [illegible] night. The [illegible] lump at the back of the tongue at present was not progressing. [illegible] portions of the throat, though not by any means treated, were [illegible], and the general's physical condition is improved. The glandular swelling that had increased on Saturday afternoon had almost disappeared by Sunday by reason of rest. When pressed to say if the cancerous lump had improved, the doctors declined to say further than the above.

THE BRITISH CORVETTE CA[illegible]NET.

NEW YORK, May [illegible].—The British corvette Ca[illegible]net, after lying at anchor all night opposite quarantine, was visited by the health officer at sunrise to-day and immediately afterward steamed to the navy anchorage opposite Tompkinsville. At 9 o'clock A. M. an American flag was hoisted to the masthead and saluted with twenty-one guns. The Union Jack flew all day at the fort and the fleet [illegible]. Captain [illegible] went ashore early in the day. The British Consul General did not pay a visit to the vessel, but a representative from the [illegible] and several officers [illegible] among the visitors. The future movements of the vessel are uncertain.

DESTRUCTIVE HAIL STORM.

PETERSBURG, Va., May [illegible].—A hail storm which passed over this section Friday afternoon [illegible] than any other locality, and extended into North Carolina. All the growing cotton, corn and vegetables were destroyed, and farmers will be compelled to plant again. Hail fell to the depth of twelve inches, and a whirlwind prevailed along the centre of the [illegible], blowing down barns, fences and sheds. In some places in Surry county this state, hail fell to the depth of eighteen inches, and in some spots drifted to the depth of four feet.

CLEARING HOUSE RETURNS.

BOSTON, May [illegible].—Leading clearing houses of the United States report total clearances for the week ending May 2 at $[illegible], a decrease of 10.5 per cent. compared with the corresponding week last year.

A CONSULSHIP DECLINED.

PHILADELPHIA, May [illegible].—A. Haller Gross has declined the appointment at Athens, Greece.

McKEE RANKIN INTERVIEWED.

He Declares that He will Play "'49" In Spite of "All the Millers Agoing."

SEATTLE, May [illegible].—[Special.]—After the McKee Rankin company finished the play of "The Danites" on Saturday night your correspondent called on Mr. Rankin, and presenting him a copy of the associated press dispatch concerning the decree of the New York supreme court enjoining him from playing "Old '49," and allowing the plaintiff, Joaquin Miller, certain damages, Mr. McKee Rankin very carefully read the dispatch and then made the following statement: "There must be some mistake about the dispatch, and I think it was sent through the means of Joaquin Miller, who is using every endeavor to restrain me from producing the play. It is not reasonable that damages should be awarded for twenty nights only. The plays of 'California Gold' and 'Old '49' are entirely different from each other, and the only connection that Miller ever had with my play of ''49' was in the fact of my having rented the right to use his name as author, for which privilege I have paid dearly. 'Old '49' was taken from scenes connected with my own family, and was written by myself, assisted by Leonard Grover and Archibald C. Gordon. Joaquin Miller assisted in writing one of the speeches, which was cut out bodily when Miller became unreasonable in his demands for more money."

When asked if he would continue to play "Old '49" even if the dispatch was true, he replied:

"Why, of course I will. I don't owe any man a dollar in the world that I am not able to pay, and I will play 'Old '49' in spite of all the Millers agoing."

ACCIDENTS.

CATASTROPHE AT GALVESTON.

GALVESTON, May [illegible].—A terrible catastrophe occurred in this city at half past 7 o'clock this morning. One of the boilers at the Tremont hotel exploded, instantly killing a number of persons and wounding several others and doing great damage to the hotel and neighboring property. The killed are as follows: Several children, Lawrence Car, fireman, Clara Miller, a white woman, and Anderson Jones, colored. The concussion from the explosion was appalling. The Tremont house is a large five story brick structure, with 130 feet frontage on Tremont street and about the same depth on Church street. The explosion shook the building with such terrible force that the guests thought a tremendous earthquake had occurred and ran panic stricken about the hallways. The scene of the calamity presents a dreary spectacle, and not one brick of the boiler house remains upon another, but in its place scattered about for half a square, lies the debris of the building.

A BREWERY COLLAPSE.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 3.—Walter's brewery caved in with a crash this morning. The noise occasioned by the collapse aroused citizens residing in the vicinity, and for a time the excitement was very great. The structure was a four story brick, substantially built. In it were 10,000 barrels of beer and a lot of new and valuable machinery. The immense weight of beer, it is supposed, caused the supports of the floor to give way, and the building collapsed from the roof to the cellar. The falling in of the walls crushed the beer barrels, and torrents of malt fluid ran down the streets, completely flooding the cellar. The loss is estimated at over $100,000.

THE FIRE RECORD.

THE NEW YORK HORROR.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Eight persons are known to have perished in the fire which occurred last night in the double brick tenement house at No. 172 First avenue. They were: Joseph Humphrey, aged 35; Thomas Humphrey, aged 4 months; Eliza Humphrey, aged 25; Mrs. Christine Komer, aged 48; Mrs. Mina Kiterner, aged 22; Richard Kritiman, aged 11; William Hurley and Mary, sister of Mrs. Humphrey, aged 40. With the exception of William Hurley, who died this morning, all were taken out of the building dead. Besides the killed there were fourteen persons injured.

THE FIRE IN ILLINOIS.

KANKAKEE, May [illegible].—At 5 o'clock Sunday morning fire was discovered in Mrs. Hill's dress millinery shop at Cabery, a village of 800 population, twenty five miles from Kankakee, and there being no fire department, the flames spread over the entire business portion, burning to the ground twenty [illegible] business houses and fourteen [illegible]. The total loss is estimated at $100,000. Most of the loss is partly insured.

RAILROAD NOTES.

THE LEASE OF THE O. R. & N.

NEW YORK, May 3.—[Special.]—The lease of the Oregon Railway and Navigation by the Union and the Northern Pacific has been the principal topic of discussion in railroad circles the last week. With both the Union and Northern Pacific using the Oregon Railway and Navigation line to Portland and the steamer line to San Francisco, and the Atchison road building through to San Diego, the Central Pacific will have both northern and southern lines to contend against, with power on their side to force a fair division of traffic, or, in the event of refusal, to demoralize rates so that the profit in the business will be gone.

CALIFORNIA.

THE ALASKA EXPEDITION SAILS.

SAN FRANCISCO, May [illegible].—Lieutenant G. M. Stoney, commanding the Alaska exploring expedition, sailed to-day on the schooner Viking for the purpose of further exploring the Putnam river, recently discovered by him. The expedition will proceed to Stotham inlet in the Viking, and from there explore the Putnam river in a steam launch built here for that purpose. Every possible aid known to science suitable to exploration and observation has been secured for the survey, and important discoveries are expected to be made.

SAN FRANCISCO NOTES.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—[Special.]—Great numbers of immigrants are arriving from the east. During the past week 1414 arrived in the state. Many are going to coast counties.

Sixty million dollars in gold coin, belonging to the government, will be transported from here to New York by rail. There will be eight car loads.

SHIPPING INTELLIGENCE.

Arrived—Steamer State of California, Portland; bark Aurora, Tacoma. Sailed—Bark Elsmore, Portland; schooner Jennie Wand, Columbia river; Viking, Putnam river.

SERIOUS STABBING AFFRAY.

WALLA WALLA, May 3.—A stabbing affray occurred yesterday three miles from Walla Walla on the Black Hawk, between James Irwin and James Grimes. The former was stabbed and is not expected to live. Grimes has been arrested. Both were intoxicated. It occurred while they were driving a team on account of the manner in which [illegible] farmers and neighbors. Irwin [illegible] paralyzed on one side of the [illegible] on account of his wound.

ATHEISM AND MASONRY.

An Agnostic Expelled from a Toronto Lodge.

Toronto (Canada) Dispatch in New York Sun.

Much excitement was caused in Masonic circles here to-day when it was known that a member of King Solomon Lodge had been expelled on account of his lack of faith in the Divinity. For some months past a special committee of the lodge, which is about the oldest and best lodge of the order in Canada, has been working up a case against S. J. Harrison, a prominent business man here, against whom a charge of atheism was preferred in the beginning of the year by a fellow member. The accusation against Mr. Harrison was that he did not believe in the existence of a God. Harrison did not know that members of the committee were watching him. Although a strong agnostic, he had never openly declared his views, and some trouble was experienced in substantiating the charge against him. Several members, however, obtained good evidence that he had expressed his views to certain friends, and last evening, at the regular meeting of the lodge, a charge against him was formally made, and he was expelled from the lodgeroom and his name was struck off the roll of membership.

This is the first case of the kind that ever happened here, and the action of the lodge has caused much speculation among the craft of the city. Harrison, it is understood, alleges that he is not an acknowledged atheist. He says that he is willing to follow as far as proof will lead him, and that he is willing to admit the existence of a God if evidence of the existence of God can be given to him. This belief he contends constitutes the creed of an agnostic. He does not deny the existence of a God, and therefore is not an atheist. Harrison threatens to bring suit against the lodge to compel them to acknowledge his eligibility for membership. He says that Bradlaugh is a member of a Masonic lodge in England, and that he holds the same views as Bradlaugh. Officers of the lodge contend that their action in expelling Harrison was perfectly in accordance with the constitution of the order, and that it was sanctioned by Grand Master Spry. The fundamental principle of Masonry, they say, is absolute belief in the existence of a deity, and failing in that belief no one can be admitted to their fellowship.

Ex-Congressman Anson G. McCook is mentioned as one of the three or four men whom the republicans of New York state might feel safe in nominating for governor. He used to carry his district, a democratic one, by large majorities.—Chicago Tribune.

The New York Sun wants Mr. Cleveland to get exercise by driving his own horses. This is good advice, but the Sun should wait until Mr. Cleveland gets accustomed to handling the cabinet, the members of which so far insist on going tandem.—Chicago Tribune.

By following sterling democratic principles, by appointing to office only genuine and active democrats and by holding aloof from independent republican advice, the president can please, encourage and strengthen the democracy throughout the country.—New York Sun.

Mr. Sittig, the obnoxious member of the Illinois legislature, announces that he is going to New Orleans. As he is paired with a recently deceased member and does not care to vote on any question that may come before the legislature, New Orleans malaria or yellow fever never had a better opportunity to do the country a great service.—Kansas City Journal.

President Cleveland's administration is fast vindicating the judgment of those who believed that it lacked in one part the capacity and in another the disposition to do good and strong work. Mr. Cleveland is himself a man who seems to mean well, but doesn't know how. He is limited in ability and destitute of experience. He neither knows men nor grasps measures.—Philadelphia Press.

Mr. Lincoln would have saved the union with slavery if he could, or if he could not do it otherwise, he would destroy slavery. This is about Mr. Cleveland's attitude toward civil service reform. He will appoint democrats where he can in line with the reform theory, but if he can not do it otherwise he will appoint them without reference to the reform. The chief end is to get democrats into the offices.—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Grant and Lincoln.

Letter in Chicago Tribune.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, D. C., April 30, 1864.—Lieut. Gen. Grant: Not expecting to see you before the spring campaign opens, I wish to express in this way my entire satisfaction with what you have done up to this time, so far as I understand it. The particulars of your plans I neither know nor seek to know. You are vigilant and self reliant, and pleased with this, I wish not to obtrude any restraints or constraints upon you. While I am very anxious that any disaster or capture of our men in great numbers shall be avoided, I know that these points are less likely to escape your attention than they would mine. If there be anything wanting which is in my power to give, do not fail to let me know it.

And now with a brave army and a just cause may God sustain you. Yours very truly,

A. LINCOLN.

HEADQUARTERS ARMIES OF THE UNITED STATES, CULPEPPER COURT HOUSE, VA., May 1, 1864.—The President: Your very kind letter of yesterday is just received. The confidence you express for the future and satisfaction for the past in my military administration is acknowledged with pride. It shall be my earnest endeavor that you and the country shall not be disappointed. From my first entrance into the volunteer service of the country to the present day I have never had cause of complaint, have never expressed or implied a complaint, against the administration or the secretary of war for throwing any embarrassment in the way of my vigorously prosecuting what appeared to be my duty. Indeed, since the promotion which placed me in command of all the armies, and in view of the great responsibility and importance of success, I have been astonished at the readiness with which everything asked for has been yielded without even an explanation being asked. Should my success be less than I desire and expect, the least I can say is, the fault is not with you. Very truly, your obedient servant,

U. S. GRANT, Lieutenant General.

THE "TIMES" CALLS FOR WAR.

An Interesting Review of the Situation by Cable Special—Both Sides Badly Scared at the Near Approach to War

LONDON, May [illegible].—The cabinet council on Saturday had under consideration a dispatch received from Sir Edward Thornton, British minister to Russia, stating that M. DeGiers, Russian minister of foreign affairs, had asked for time in which to discuss and interpret the agreement of March 17 before deciding whether arbitration was required to settle the pending difficulties. As a result of the cabinet discussion Earl Granville intimated his willingness to defer the laying of the dispute before a third power for settlement, provided M. DeGiers admitted the principle of arbitration.

A further communication from Sir Edward Thornton was received at the foreign office to-night. It is reported that the English minister states in this dispatch that Russia accepts the principle of arbitration.

A cabinet council has been summoned for to-morrow.

The czarina, whose influence is nearly absolute over the czar, is actively assisting in peace negotiations.

Sunday editions of the London newspapers confirm the report that a secret treaty has been made between England and Turkey, according to the terms of which England will be allowed to send men of war through the Dardanelles in case of war.

FROM THE GOVERNMENT ORGAN.

LONDON, May 4.—The News, government organ, in a leading editorial says: "The prospects for peace have been much cleared and more amply confirmed within the last forty-eight hours. A Russian dispatch, conciliatory in tone and substance, was sent to the government by telegraph, after the czar had conferred with his ministers, and a courier with the official written reply to Earl Granville is now on the way to London." The News warns its readers, however, against a hasty conclusion that peace is assured.

THE "TIMES" FOR WAR.

The Times urges that the advance upon Herat by the Russians should constitute a distinct casus belli without further debate or discussion.

FROM MOSCOW.

MOSCOW, May 3.—The Gazette says it has reason to believe that an honest expedient has been found by which both sides can settle the Russo-English dispute.

SPECIAL CABLE LETTER.

The War-Cloud now Completely Dissipated—The Situation Explained

NEW YORK, May 3.—[Special.]—The Sun's London cable says: Opinion veered the past week more frequently and completely than at any time during the crisis. When Gladstone was speaking in the commons everybody said "This certainly means war." This interpretation, apart from the magnificent eloquence and splendid delivery of the speech, was the secret of its wonderful effect in forthwith silencing all opposition; but while parliament was thus convinced of war the stock exchange and the general public the very next day declared for peace. This tendency has been increasing daily until to-day peace is believed almost concluded. For once popular impression is based on sound surmises. Things stand as follows: The frontier question is virtually settled. England knows Russia's wants and has decided to yield to most of them. The Penjdeh point of honor will be got around by clever diplomatic dodging. The difficulty has been to inquire into the Penjdeh affair without passing judgment on Lumsden and Komaroff. Neither power will submit the acts of its own officers directly to arbitration, which would admit a question of Lumsden's veracity or Komaroff's strategy. Arbitration therefore will not be on the officers, but on the real meaning of the agreement of March 17, and whether what will euphemistically be called an interpretation thereof is correct for either side. Meanwhile the disputed territory will not be further occupied.

BOTH SIDES BADLY SCARED.

One probable result of arbitration is that England will claim money indemnity for the Afghans, and, as a minister said laughingly, "England will perhaps quietly lend Russia the money to enable her to purchase peace."

A settlement undoubtedly has been brought about by the nervous terror which overcame both parties when they found themselves face to face with the grim countenance of war. England has visibly cooled in the few days during which war seemed certain. The tories began to ask one another what they were going to fight about. The czar shrank from unknown possibilities and was chagrined at the revelations of Russian poverty, in her inability to purchase even a few cruisers.

To-day promises that the Russian scare will almost be forgotten in a few weeks and the momentary unity of the parties will be broken and the air rent with the hoarse cries of the rival candidates in the coming elections. The government, on the whole, got well out of the business.

Childers' budget made a favorable impression. Nobody expects the whisky makers to oppose increased taxation.

Randolph Churchill is already breaking the pleasant calm which he indulged in for a fortnight after his return. He already snubs Northcote and other leaders. His only smart speech was against the budget. Until the war scare has vanished there will be little interest in domestic controversies.

THE CABLE LINES.

The general question of keeping open cable communication in the event of war is the absorbing subject of discussion in telegraph circles. Just now it is hoped that Russia will abstain from cable cutting as, owing to the free trade system that prevails in international telegraphy, Russia has an equal right with England to the use of all cables. There is, moreover, no danger of Russia's dispatches being intelligible to her enemies, as the key of the Russian cipher, which is a mysterious combination of letters and figures, in groups of fives, has never been discovered. England would, of course, be as eager as the companies to keep the cables inviolate, for any obstruction of her lines of communication with her eastern colonies would seriously cripple her movements. It is believed, in all events, that Russia will respect the Western Union and Bennett-Mackay lines of cables on account of their purely American ownership. It is now learned that Russian cruisers have been stationed for some time past at convenient points in the Pacific ocean in readiness in case of war to cut the ocean cables connecting England with China, India and Australia. John Pender, M. P., chairman of the Eastern and Eastern Extension telegraph companies, has implored the government to protect the cables of those companies, which have a monopoly of the cable business with the Orient, and to repair them in case of damage caused by acts of war. The government has replied that it will do its best to protect the property of the companies [illegible] all Englishmen.

THE RIEL REBELLION.

WINNIPEG, May [illegible].—The telegraph line is still down west of Humboldt, and nothing has come through. Major Walsh has been visiting the half-breeds near Fort Quappelle, and has every confidence that they will prove loyal. Many of them have friends and relatives in Riel's camp, and say if it were in their power they would induce them to withdraw. Indian Agent McDonald has gone to Touchwood, where the Indians have left their reserve. They have plenty of provisions, and McDonald does not see why they have left the reserve. He will try to get them back. There is a report that they have gone north, but it is not confirmed. The remains of Private Furguson, Ninth rifles, killed at Fish Creek, arrived at Fort Quappelle to-day. They will be embalmed and brought to Winnipeg. Lieutenant Swenford's body is expected to arrive there to-morrow and will be similarly treated.

From Canadian Pacific officers it is learned that navigation will open between Port Arthur and the eastern provinces in ten days. They have three ironclad ocean steamers said to be the finest on the continent that will make connection with their trains.

The Stockton Mail is pushing ex-Congressman Budd as the best successor to Stoneman that the democracy could pick out. The Antioch Ledger, on the other hand, puts forward Mr. Will S. Green, the able editor of the Colusa Sun, for the honor. "Many papers," says the Ledger, "succeed to ephemeral popularity through the flashing genius of the men behind them, but there is something more substantial than genius in Brother Green." It adds that "few men who have been in the public eye so long can boast of meriting the same degree of confidence." It is the opinion of the Ledger that "that which tends to the destruction of most men in [illegible] is purified and ennobled Mr. Green." This is high praise indeed, but how about the gubernatorial claims of ex-Congressman Berry and Hugh [illegible]? The Oakland Independent ignores Mr. Green and advocates Mr. M. F. Tarpey, while the Sonoma Democrat prefers Controller Dunn, though it is not unmindful of the merits of Uncle George Hearst, Railroad Commissioner Foote and Clay [illegible].

On the republican side Hon. M. M. Estee, Chancellor Hartson, United States Surveyor General Brown and Congressman Morrow have been mentioned so far. The republican press is behind the democratic in fecundity of suggestion in this direction. It is noteworthy that none of the journalistic governor-makers has yet advocated the renomination of Governor Stoneman.

The Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, MAY 4, 1885

THE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE FUNDS

The [illegible] in publishing a statement of a [illegible] correspondent of this journal, says "The act passed at the last session of the legislature locating the college at Corvallis, and providing for the erection of a $25,000 building for the school, in no way interferes with the management of the school or the drawing of its funds. The new law did not repeal any of the laws which were on the statute book prior to the session of the last legislature, but left all of such laws in force as they existed before, hence if at any time authority existed for drawing warrants for the State Agricultural college funds for the use of the school, the same authority exists to-day, because the new law left all of those provisions as they were previous to the new law." All this is quite true. The bill provides for the college to be opened some time during the next two years, but not for the present school, whose board resigned the advantages of state aid before the meeting of the legislature. There can be no mistake, because our correspondent got his information personally from the secretary of state, who now finds no authority to pay over the agricultural college fund to the Corvallis college as he has formerly done. The privileges once resigned were not renewed. There is now no State Agricultural college and there will be none till the college to be built on the state farm at Corvallis opens its doors. THE OREGONIAN regrets exceedingly that the present college is not provided for, but its managers have only themselves to blame for inconsiderately resigning the advantage of state support. It was the understanding in the legislature that the agricultural fund would be paid to the old college till the new one was completed, but the bill as passed did not so declare and the secretary of state cannot be wiser than the law.

FARMING FOR SPOILS

Bob Ingersoll said in 1880 that the democrats were the friends of the early frost—an epigrammatic way he had of saying that an opposition party thrives best during hard times. This sentiment is recognized in Texas where a democratic Banner exhorts its constituents to go to work briskly to get good crops, for the political benefits which would follow. The party in power no longer favors an early frost. The Banner says "good crops will aid a democratic administration as well as everything else. Industry and diligence are important factors in securing good crops. Let every democrat feel that the eyes of his chief and the country are upon him. The man who farms most successfully is the man entitled to office. To your ploughs, then, O ye democratic yeomanry!"

Prizes for farming in the shape of offices are better than the old fashioned system of spoils. The Texas idea must have existed in an undeveloped state in the mind of an Oregon office-seeker, about whom Colonel Nesmith tells a good story. A faithful supporter of Jo Lane who wanted an appointment in the Indian service got a friend to write a letter setting forth his claims and qualifications for the position. When the letter was written and read to the applicant it was found to contain the word "exegency." The man expressed his satisfaction with the letter except, as he said, "that are word 'ex-ig-ency,'" which he said would show to General Lane that he did not write the letter, for General Lane, he said, "knows that I would not use that word and that I do not know what it means. If you will strike out ex-igency and put in agricultur General Lane will know the letter was written by me. He knows that I know what agricultur means, and besides agricultur is a very good word any way." It was the magic word in that instance, we believe, but it is a very good word any way. And those who farm most successfully in Oregon will be entitled to the spoils of the earth. When the democratic yeomenry meet each other in the dusty field they may exclaim as did Mr Flannagan of Texas in the republican national convention of 1880, "what are we here for, if not for the offices?"

ROADS NEEDED

Judge Dyer, of Coos county, is doing a good work in making roads connecting the various settlements in the county and wherever else there is any need for them. The News, speaking of this admirable enterprise, well says "Roads are the ducts of trade. If society is stagnant, thought narrow, and commerce dead, you will find no roads. If people will intermingle, enlarge their information, they must have means of travel. This has long been the great need of this county. It has crippled enterprises, deprived the people of pleasures and various advantages, and damaged us in countless ways." One of the serious needs of this country is more and better roads. The want of roads is about the first serious disadvantage encountered by new comers. They find it impossible to reach many localities to which they are directed without branching out into an absolute wilderness. In the Willamette valley, of course, there are roads everywhere, but elsewhere in the state travel by wagon is likely to be tedious, difficult and round about. In many instances where road making would be very easy, it is necessary to make circuits of many miles to gain a short distance in a direct line. Convenience and business necessity demand better roads and the county authorities everywhere should follow the example of Judge Dyer. The state took upon itself the burden of road making a few years ago and made several munificent appropriations for this purpose, but everywhere it was robbed and the work came to nothing or next to nothing. With these experiences in mind, recent legislatures have fought shy of road schemes and it seems practically impossible to get state aid for even the most necessary enterprises in this line. The work is done at all must be done by the counties.

TAKING SIGHT

The popular vote for president was first reported in 1824, when it was divided between four candidates, the successful candidate receiving 43 per cent, the leading opposition candidate 31 per cent, and two other candidates 13 per cent. each. At the next presidential election the democratic [illegible] was [illegible] by [illegible] Jackson [illegible] divided [illegible] 1840 a little [illegible] of the [illegible] In the next [illegible] parties became [illegible] and ended in the explosion of 1860. Then came the war parties, solidly confronting one another in 1864 and 1868, at [illegible] a new disintegration began, increasing [illegible] in 1884 and resulting in the defeat of the republican party in 1884. The [illegible] changes in the composition of parties in the near future. The democrats as well as the republicans are divided, and while the former may become still more distracted by the responsibilities of administering the government and dispensing the patronage, the latter are likely to feel even more seriously the effects of the [illegible] movement. It is too early for either party to form confident hopes for the next election. Mr Evarts takes a more sanguine view than the majority of his party, when he says that he is thoroughly convinced that the country which prospered so greatly under the administration of the republican party, and which was raised to a position that challenged the respect and confidence of every nation, will prefer in the future to be exhibited to the admiration of the world under the same auspices and [illegible] of happiness as before the change last fall.

The public has almost forgotten that a senatorial election is going on in Illinois. It has become [illegible] a farce that the legislators do not pretend to treat it seriously. Only a few senators attend the joint conventions, and the others [illegible] two members distinguished themselves, one by voting for [illegible] and the other for Andrew Jackson.

The Philadelphia Press publishes the full text of the letter addressed in December last by General Grant to Senator Mitchell, in which he declined a pension. General Grant said, beyond what has been printed. "If a general law should pass congress making provision for ex-[illegible] of the United States, I should have no [illegible] in accepting the benefit of such a law. If my services in the army should seem to congress and the nation to entitle me to be placed on the retired list, with the rank I held on quitting it, I would esteem it a great honor. But I make no request further than for the withdrawal of the pension bill referred to."

A NEW MINING DISTRICT

The recent mineral discoveries on the Trask river are attracting much attention at present, and seem to have a value beyond the expectations of the first discoverers. It has been known for some time that mineral deposits existed in the mountain range in the western portion of Tillamook county, but owing to its inaccessibility by reason of the heavy timber little prospecting or active work has been done until recently. During the past year, however, parties have located several claims, and it is now found that a mineral belt of great richness extends over a large portion of that region. The ore is chiefly silver, yielding in various forms as bromides, carbonates, sulphurets, chlorides and ruby silver. Specimen assays recently made indicate a value of from $100 to several thousand dollars per ton. Miners of experience claim that the discoveries already made are sufficient to stamp the district as one of permanent value and great possibilities. The development of the claims thus far located shows that all have the same general character. It is expected that the present season will result in the production of considerable bullion if a mill is taken in early enough to work the ores taken out in the process of opening the claims. The general expression of those having knowledge of these mines is that they will prove a valuable addition to the natural industrial resources of the vicinity of Portland and should be investigated by those having capital to invest in legitimate enterprise. At present Portland is seriously contemplating the establishment of reduction works. To operate them successfully plenty of base bullion must be obtainable, and when once established that very fact will lend greater inducements to the development of mineral districts near our city. It is possible these new Tillamook mines have within them the elements of an extensive industry and a valuable accessory to our tributary wealth.

THE MORMON PROTEST

The Mormon protest will deceive no intelligent person. The United States government is not persecuting them for their faith. There are Mormons in various parts of the country, in Iowa, Missouri, and even in the city of Boston, who are quiet, law abiding citizens, having no intention of practicing polygamy, which they declare is not a part of their religion. Against them justice has no grievance. But against polygamists, wherever they are, there is imperative need of enforcing criminal law vigorously. But in Utah the laws of the United States are scoffed at. These laws make it a crime, punishable in the territorial courts, to practice bigamy or polygamy. But, in defiance of these laws, plural marriages have been performed by the church and commanded by the highest priests in the Mormon oligarchy. When the United States authorities have attempted to enforce the laws, the whole power of the Mormon church has been turned against the government. Witnesses have been induced, or forced, to testify falsely. Jurors have been corrupted or intimidated, and the machinery of terror and superstition has been matched against that of decent, crime preventing society.

The force which has been given to the Edmunds law by the supreme court is now severely felt by these law-breakers, and if the administration of this law is not interfered with by the president the Mormons must soon abandon polygamy. There is no reason to expect that their appeal to the president will have any other effect than to elicit from him a repetition of his pledge that the laws must be enforced. The Mormons are not strong enough to revolt, nor have they the courage to revolt. If they should carry nullification to that extent the government would draw the sword. In that event there are men enough in Utah and the adjoining territories with grievances to adjust to supply all the force the government might require.

The Boston Journal in commending William M Evarts' recent speech on the political situation says few men have more sincere or more intelligent admirers in the republican party than has Mr Evarts. They admire him for his rare abilities and his undeviating devotion to republican principles. Mr. Evarts' republicanism as known to the country during the past quarter of a century, put into words, would make a party creed that would suit all republicans who have the root of the matter in them." Mr Evarts' record did not "suit all republicans who have the root of the matter in them," while he was making it. He helped Andrew Johnson not to "make treason odious" and sat with an ex-rebel in Hayes's Cabinet, while the troops were withdrawn from the South and the federal interference in that section was stopped. Republicans were never so well suited with Mr Evarts' republicanism as they have been during the past year.

The New Bedford, Mass., Mercury utters the sentiments of the majority in both parties when it says that "the people care not a whit whether such officials are republicans or democrats. We think the interest in this matter of the offices is confined chiefly to the newspapers, which find it a fruitful topic of discussion, and to the politicians, who can't conceive that an office was made for anything else than a reward to the smartest 'worker.' Most other people are supremely indifferent to the matter, so long as the offices are filled with capable men." This is a business view of business duties.

Newspapers published in the vicinity of the interior military posts in this department, now being abandoned, are outspoken in their protests, evidently representing the sentiment of their constituents. A close examination of this sentiment would doubtless show that it grows, not out of fear of Indian outbreaks, but from loss of a profitable market for forage and other army supplies. It cannot be reasonably expected that the government will maintain military establishments [illegible]

THE REBEL TREASURE

The True Inwardness of the Recent Confederate Bond Craze.

CHARLESTON, S C, April 27.—The News and Courier explains the mystery of the late confederate bond craze. It says: "Judah P. Benjamin, secretary of state of the confederacy from 1862 until its collapse, was the originator of a plan by which a demand was created for the bonds, and to his shrewdness is attributed the complete success of the project. Most of the moneys of the confederacy were surrendered, but there was one fund which has escaped the notice of the investigating [illegible] and this was the secret service fund of the [illegible] department of state.

"At different times the confederate congress, in secret session, voted large sums for secret service. The principal deposits were in London and Paris banks. The funds were placed to the credit of citizens of Great Britain and France who were friendly to the south. The understanding with them was that they would issue on responsibility he would honor drafts to the extent of the money in the bank. At the close of the war there were large unexpended balances of this money to the credit of these parties. [illegible] amount of $[illegible] which [illegible] have been overdrawn as against it was [illegible] The balances of the federal deposits [illegible] were as follows:

[illegible] of $[illegible] one of [illegible] Then there was one of $[illegible] one of $[illegible] one of $[illegible] and a balance of $[illegible],000. The total balance due the confederate government at the time of its fall was about $[illegible]

"Mr Benjamin, as secretary of state of the confederacy, knew these agents, and during his residence in England consulted with them as to the disposition of the money. It was agreed that it should not be surrendered to the United States. The question was, then, how to disburse the money so as best to benefit those entitled to it. It was concluded that the people who had given their means to the confederacy for its bonds were entitled to these, the confederacy's assets. The aggregate of the funds was ascertained and a calculation was made as to how far it would go in paying the interest on the bonds, because, of course, it was impracticable to declare a dividend on the principal. Publicity was to be avoided. Secrecy was indispensable.

"It was decided to pay off the unbonded coupons, beginning with those last due by the confederacy during its existence. These were the coupons falling due January 1, 1865. Then the balance was to be applied to the payment of the next coupons falling due. The bonds were advertised for, and, to cover the real object of the movement, it was hinted that the bonds were to be held by speculators, and that suit was to be instituted against the United States for their payment.

"The whole transaction is now closed, as all the confederate assets have been disbursed. Confederate bonds are no longer in demand. The public can understand now why bonds lacking certain coupons were worthless and unsalable."

The strike at the Para rubber company's works at South Framingham, Massachusetts, has ended, the corporation agreeing to restore the 10 per cent reduction.

Agriculture in Gothland and at many places in the southern and eastern portions of Sweden is at a standstill, owing to the farmers expecting to be called upon for compulsory military service to enforce the neutrality of Sweden.

The immense stone bridge constructed by Chinese engineers over the arm of the Chinese sea at Lagong is finished. The bridge is five miles long, entirely of stone, and has 300 arches, each seventy feet high. The roadway is seventy feet wide.

Prince Krapotkine, the nihilist, was released from prison at Clairvaux, France, Saturday. He was sentenced in November, 1882, to five years imprisonment for conspiracy against the public order at Lyons, and has been confined ever since alternately at Clairvaux and in a criminal infirmary at Paris.

The 321st anniversary of the birth of Shakespeare was celebrated on Thursday with much ceremony and festival in Stratford on Avon. The town was brilliantly decorated, and the church bells have been chiming all the day. Hundreds of strangers thronged the place. The vicar of Stratford church announced, during the memorial service, that the Shakespeare window presented by the American visitors to the poet's tomb is completed. The window is to be set immediately over Shakespeare's grave.

The executors of the estate of the late Francis A Drexel, the banker, have almost completed their appraisement of the estate. One-tenth of the assets go, under the banker's will to various Roman Catholic charities. Archbishop Ryan of this city, has so far received $710,000 under the will as trustee of the charities. It is certain that the estate will not fall below $10,000,000, and consequently that the award to charities will foot up a full million. The executors were given a year in which to settle up the affairs of the estate. Everything was left in such perfect order, however, that they will be able to complete their work within a few weeks. The dead banker was known as an eminently conservative and keen financier. His estate shows the general judgment to have been well founded. The securities which he left were of the best character and have yielded an immediate return.

Vacancies in May

Washington Special

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Seventy-six post-offices fall vacant in May. Twenty five of them are south of Mason and Dixon's line. More southern democrats will get postoffices in the next thirty days than Mr Buchanan appointed in the last six months of his administration. Some of the coming vacancies are large and important offices. Baltimore, Richmond, Charleston, Raleigh and Columbus are among them. In all of these republicans will go out and democrats will step in, except possibly in the case of Postmaster Adreon at Baltimore. His friends are playing the Pearson act with all their might, and may succeed in having him reappointed. Some important offices in the north become vacant in May. The one that has caused the greatest disturbance so far is that at Augusta, Maine, where Joe Manly, Blaine's nimble adviser, will have to get out. Colonel Morton, editor of an important agricultural paper, is an applicant. He is the man who furnished the Indianapolis Sentinel the dirt with which to assail Blaine's domestic virtue. Mr Blaine is said to have made this case the subject of a special errand to see Mr Cleveland, and it has been said he received special assurances from him that Morton should not be appointed. In New York the Albany and Schenectady offices become vacant on the 4th and 6th of May. The Madison (Ind.), Terre Haute (Ind.) and Quincy (Ill.) offices become vacant on the 18th, [illegible] and [illegible] of the month. But one office in Minnesota requires a change, that at Preston.

Delicate diseases of either sex, however induced, promptly, thoroughly and permanently cured. Send three letter stamps for large illustrated treatise, suggesting the means of cure. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N Y

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

THAT EFFORT TO SUPPLANT CHIEF PARRISH.—It is now pretty generally understood throughout the city that the special meeting of the common council, held last Thursday night, was for some other purpose than appeared to outsiders who were present, or by any of the reports published the next morning. Some of the councilmen have talked to intimate friends, each of whom also possesses a certain large number of intimate friends, and thus in geometrical progression a certain proposed political expedient has become widespread. None of the councilmen cared to talk when questioned by reporters. But Councilman Scoggins put on a wise look and with a knowing smile finally said: "If you thought something was up which didn't happen, you thought just right." "And why didn't it happen?" was asked. "Oh, because the bottom dropped out," and this was all the answer he would vouchsafe. Councilman Gerdes had said openly in the hearing of several that it had been the intention to supplant Chief of Police S. B. Parrish with John F. Ward. Councilman Andrus had the same opinion in regard to the removal, but not as to the probable successor. He further offered to bet something that the effort to remove Parrish in order to find a place for some other man would not prove successful. Councilman Holland, who was not present at the special meeting, and who has just returned to the city, said he had been told that his absence from the city had rendered the proposed police change impossible, that the necessary five votes to confirm a new appointment had been secured and he was one of the five. As Councilman Sears was also absent he must have been another of the five, or the change might still have been made by a vote of four to three. Probably Councilman Andrus was right and the present chief will remain secure in his office for some time at least.

THE NARROW GAUGE DECISION.—The Dundee Advertiser of recent date has the following: "We publish in full this morning the important judgment pronounced by the Hon. Judge Deady in the United States circuit court at Portland, in the Oregonian Railway lease case. It will be seen that it is a remarkably clear, unhesitating and emphatic decision, in favor of the Oregonian Railway Company. We have seldom read a legal interlocutor more intelligible in its diction or more devoid of dubiety or ambiguity. It is the more important as an exposition and interpretation of the corporation and railway laws of the state of Oregon by a jurist who from the beginning has had much to do with framing, digesting and applying them. On every essential point Judge Deady's decision is out and out in favor of the Oregonian Railway Company, and that on such broad and well established principles of law and equity that there is no likelihood of its being set aside on appeal to Washington.

GRATUITOUS INFORMATION.—"Portland, Oregon, has nine electric lamps in operation." This was published among other brilliant news notes in the Philadelphia Press a few days ago. The sub-editor who "compiled" the above important news item is hereby respectfully informed that the entire business district of Portland is lighted by electric lamps which are kept "burning" from sundown to sun-up, and that we've got churches and school houses, and libraries, and theaters and street cars, and policemen, and a street cleaning department, and a paid fire department, and massive buildings, and we are the terminus of two great transcontinental railway lines, and 40,000 people live here, and there is more wealth in proportion to the population than any other city in the United States, except Hartford, Connecticut, and we've got the finest climate in the world, not barring Italy. The Press ought to send a correspondent out here. It would do him good and us no harm.

EVIDENTLY INSANE.—Charles A. Devine was arrested about 7:30 last evening by Policeman J. H. Nash upon a charge of insanity. Devine is the same fellow who was arrested about two weeks ago for annoying some women. He was thought at that time to be insane, but after being in jail awhile did not longer appear so. He was therefore arraigned upon a charge of disorderly conduct, and being found guilty, was punished with five days' imprisonment. Last evening he followed two women to their home, near the corner of Fourth and Washington streets, and forced his way into the house after them. When indignantly asked what he wanted he said he had been sent there to take their measures for new dresses. He was ejected by a man servant and handed over to the police. He is evidently insane and will be examined by the county judge and a board of doctors to-day.

MAIL BOXES MOLESTED.—Hoodlumism among South Portland boys has reached a very high point. Their last act of vandalism was to drive small sticks into the lock of the U. S. mail box on the corner of First and Hooker streets, rendering it impossible to open and utterly ruining it. W. G. Steele, the superintendent of carriers, has heretofore offered a reward of $20 for the discovery of any of those young rascals and he now proposes in addition to the reward to make it of interest to the residents of that or any other section to see that the mail-boxes are not molested. If the lock of any box is hereafter stopped up as the one at the corner of First and Hooker streets, it will be taken away and the neighboring people will have to get along without the convenience.

ACCESSORY TO A ROBBERY.—In Justice Greene's court to-day, Wee Sing, a Chinese cook, will have an examination upon a charge of being accessory to a robbery. The prisoner was employed at the White house, on the macadam road, the proprietor of which awoke one morning about two weeks ago to find that he had been robbed of a gold watch and other jewelry and about $50 in money. Through the agency of the city detectives much of the property was discovered in a Chinese pawnshop, which led to the arrest of the cook. It is claimed that he admitted the robber to the house. The proprietor also thinks he was chloroformed that night.

HAVE ADOPTED THE STYLE.—Business among the Chinese merchants of this city seems to be even less profitable at the present time than among any of the Caucasian tradespeople. In proportion the failures have been very much larger both in number and amount. It is very evident that they have become thoroughly imbued with the Caucasian style and when they can no longer make money by legitimate trading, they close their doors, make an assignment, and having paid their creditors five or ten cents on the dollar, reopen in a new block, with a larger store and a more extensive stock of goods.

DID HE SEE A MIRAGE?—A gentleman residing in the southwestern part of the city states that a few mornings since he saw from his front door, just as the sun was rising over the Cascade range, a beautiful mirage of Vancouver and the Columbia river adjacent. He freely admits that he had taken several mild decoctions the evening before, but claims to have called his wife to witness the mirage, and says she will testify to the fact. This gives an air of truthfulness to the statement, but how he came to be up at sunrise is not yet explained.

ARM FRACTURED.—At Lewiston on Thursday last Frank, a 13-year-old son of Captain Baughman, fell from an express wagon on which he was riding, and one of his arms becoming caught between the spokes of a wheel, he was carried some distance in the predicament indicated before the horses were stopped, the driver not being aware of the accident for some moments. As a result his arm was dislocated at the shoulder and fractured in two places.

DECISIONS TO BE ANNOUNCED.—Judge Stearns will this morning, in department No. 2 of the state circuit court, announce decisions in the following cases: J. White et al. vs. Julius Goldsmith et al., on the demurrer to the complaint; and the North Pacific Lumbering and Manufacturing company on the motion to modify the decree.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.—Judge Deady will deliver an opinion in this court this morning on the petition for instructions in ex parte Richard Koehler, receiver of the Oregon and California railway company.

METHODIST CENTENNIAL

To-day and to-morrow services commemorative of the centennial of American Methodism and the semi-centennial of Oregon Methodism will be held at Taylor street church. The Methodist Episcopal church was formally organized at a conference of the Methodist ministers called by Thomas Coke, LL.D., an assistant of Mr. Wesley in England, and sent to America by the latter for the purpose of consummating such organization. The first bishops, Coke and Asbury, were elected. This conference, called the Christmas Conference, met in Philadelphia December [illegible] and continued its session until January [illegible] 1785.

Following is the programme for the services:

YESTERDAY'S BALL GAME

The Portlands Defeat the Stars by a Score of 18 to 10 at City View Park.

So far as the playing was concerned the base ball season, which began at City View park yesterday, did not open auspiciously. The Stars were in hard luck, and a series of errors gave the Portlands a commanding lead in the second inning, which they increased on the third, the score then standing 12 to 4 in their favor. Yet none of the errors were glaring. Most of them were fumbles of hard hit grounders, or throws a foot too high or too low, or passed balls at critical points, but every one was costly. The score published below shows that the Portlands were not able to do much with Timmons or Drummond's delivery. The former pitched five innings. If he had a little better control of the ball, so that he could get them over the plate every time he wanted to, he could fill the pitcher's position first rate. This will probably come with practice. Glendenning had been ill during the week and was hardly up to his usual standard.

A fair crowd attended. Among the spectators were the members of the American Stars of Vancouver, who took positions at the back stop to "catch on" to Glendenning's curves. Following is

THE SCORE.

AN INVITATION

PORTLAND, May [illegible], 1885.

To THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Will you kindly reprint the following lines, published in your issue of yesterday, and the lines [illegible] I have appended.

THE GRAND PACIFIC.

'Twas a rather small engraving of a very large hotel
That little Grace was studying so earnestly and well;
And at last she softly murmured [illegible] funny little [illegible]

A DAY'S OUTING.

How Two of The Oregonian's Attaches went Fishing in the Cascade Mountains—The Beautiful Scenery—A Story of George Francis Train.

Having heard that there was good fishing in a lake in the Cascade mountains near the upper Cascades, two attaches of THE OREGONIAN, in whom the instinct for killing something had long been so strong that it could not be repressed, determined a few days since to visit this lake and satisfy their cravings for slaughter by killing trout. One of the pair went up to the Cascade Locks on the Atlantic express and stayed there all night. The other, whose duties as a reporter prevented him from leaving at that time, was constrained to [illegible] by the [illegible] train.

Accordingly at [illegible] A. M., when his labors for the day were ended, he proceeded down to Albina and [illegible] the train leaving at [illegible]. He was received by the conductor with the kindness and consideration always [illegible] to representatives of THE OREGONIAN. [illegible]

[illegible]

What [illegible] the steep slopes of the mountains along the route presented. A few weeks [illegible] passed over the same route between perpendicular walls of snow 20 to 30 feet in height. Now [illegible] in all their [illegible] beauty; wild roses loaded the air with their fragrance, syringa bushes bent under [illegible] [illegible] the purple flowers of the wild [illegible] contrasted with the pale green foliage and snowy flowers of the salmon berry bushes. The blossoms of the wild strawberry, chickweed and [illegible] whitened the ground, making the country look like a continuous garden.

At short intervals patches of snow were seen lying in some depression sheltered by overhanging bushes, the remnants of the huge drifts of a few weeks before. On these patches of snow one could find [illegible] a bouquet of a dozen different kinds of wild flowers.

Talk of winter lingering in the lap of spring. Here was a case where the old blooded hoary headed [illegible] was lingering to steal kisses from [illegible] that they would [illegible]

[illegible] the fishermen over the river. The mountain was [illegible] and the lake reached. It was crowded [illegible] place and contained some fine trout, but they were very wary. The style of fishing is [illegible] casting a fly [illegible] and requires some practice to insure success. Mr. Justin had the knack and made the largest killing. Some very fine trout were taken and a most enjoyable day spent. That [illegible] was passed in doing some very responsible sleeping, and early in the morning a visit was [illegible] to see the sport [illegible] of dipping for salmon. Crossing the excavation for the Cascade locks and scrambling over acres of boulders we reached the bank of the Columbia just where the current makes its first leap and the waters [illegible] boil and roar over the rocky descent. Here several frail platforms were projected out over the seething water and standing on them were men [illegible] with long handled dip nets which they plied unceasingly. They reached as far as possible up the stream then plunged in the nets, which were swept down as far as the handle would allow, when they were withdrawn and the same repeated, perhaps many times, without catching anything and then a lucky dip would bring out a salmon or perhaps several. One man caught five of the small salmon called bluebacks at one dip. Occasionally the Chinook salmon would be caught and thrown out to a hollow in the rocks. The sport is not mere pastime. It is laborious and dangerous as a man making a misstep would be plunged to almost certain death in the cataract, the roar of which is enough to deafen one.

The men dipping were Norwegians, not an Indian was to be seen. Sitting there watching them one could look up and see the rocky peaks of the mountains opposite glowing in the rays of the rising sun, bearing traces of the wearing of the waters which cut through them—who shall say how many ages since? How many races have fished for salmon at these cascades? Who can tell? The Indians have nearly passed away, and the light haired Scandinavian has taken his place. In ages yet to come the New Zealander may risk his life in pursuit of the kingly Chinook when the white man has passed away like his predecessors. While sitting watching the silvery prey of the fishers kick out their lives on the rocks, an old river man asked if we had ever heard of George Francis Train's exploit in dipping for salmon.

We never had and he related the following story which we never recollect to have seen in print is given here:

When Train visited this section about a dozen years since he came up to The Dalles, where I was then living [illegible]

[illegible] him at once for with his [illegible] hat stuck well back on his head, his swallow tailed coat [illegible] this girls in chin [illegible] took him for the brother of [illegible] [illegible] Cock Knaggs, the prince of good fellows and the champion story teller of the Columbia river basin.

Well, Train, who is the [illegible] and only true [illegible] this country, was armed with a letter from Captain Ainsworth to the company's agent at The Dalles, Frank T. Dodge, instructing the latter to afford every facility for seeing The Dalles [illegible] anything else [illegible] about that he wanted [illegible].

A locomotive was [illegible] ordered out to take [illegible] up to see the rapids, Tumwater and the scenery of The Dalles in general.

In those days hundreds of Indians gathered at The Dalles to fish for salmon and their encampments attracted Train's attention.

In answer to his inquiries Mr. Dodge explained to him what the Indians were doing, and he expressed [illegible] visit the fishery. The locomotive [illegible] the party proceeded to the river bank.

The train [illegible] narrower and swifter at that place than here, the river being fairly turned on edge as it were.

Train watched the Indians for a few minutes and then expressed a wish to try his hand at fishing. Mr. Dodge spoke to an Indian who at once relinquished his platform and net to the visitor. Train stepped out on the rushing water, dipped his [illegible] and caught a large salmon. The weight of the fish and the swiftness of the current were greater than he had calculated upon and he was [illegible] into the river quicker than you could wink.

His disappearance caused great excitement and Mr. Dodge yelled to the Indians to hyack, and when Train rose to the surface some distance below [illegible] were in the water after him. They succeeded after much [illegible] and pulling in getting him safe to the shore. His hat still [illegible] on down to an eddy, when a [illegible] drove of young Indians went for it and captured it.

Mr. Dodge supposed that Train would wish to return to [illegible] he was mistaken.

Pulling off his swallow tailed coat and handing his water-logged watch to Dodge to care for, he stripped off his vest, collar and cravat, and tying his suspenders around his waist, he seized the net and threw out salmon after salmon. He was determined to stay all day, so the train returned to town to get him some lunch and take out [illegible] [illegible] in his fish.

He asked Mr. Dodge to have them sent up to the [illegible] in the evening.

It was [illegible] at The Dalles as [illegible] worth [illegible].

Train [illegible] that was just what he wanted. The people did not realize the value of their fish [illegible] he made [illegible] to discover a [illegible] of wealth to [illegible]. He proposed to tell them some truths about these fish.

And he did, and he feted all the visitors as [illegible] which would be done [illegible] these salmon at [illegible] them and how wealthy [illegible] would become, all of which has come true [illegible] the wealthy cannery [illegible].

MONDAY MORNING, MAY 4, 1885

COMMERCIAL.

SATURDAY, May [illegible]

Weather clear and warm.

The amount of rainfall at this point for April was 1.17 inches, rain falling on the third and 15th to 18th—6 days. For the same month last year 3.57 in. The month of April witnessed unusually bright weather yet all crops progressed finely and little new moisture will be required to carry them past the danger point. The wheat trade ruled slow under uncertain, yet promising, advices from abroad, local holders finding in these cause to advance asking rates and curtail business. As against the same month prices have ruled 7½@8c cheaper. Little has been done in freights, exporters being busily employed in obtaining cargoes for earlier takings. Four vessels cleared finally with wheat or flour and two others are about ready to clear. For iron 45s has been the asking rate but 42s 6d was about best obtainable figure, a decline of 2s 6d over one year ago. Flour advanced 50 to $4.50, selling at $5 and $4 75 last year. Oats ruled cheaper by 11@12c. The wool season this year opened rather earlier than usual because of forward weather; prices are probably about [illegible]c less. The salmon industry is backward but will gather activity this month. General trade may be said to have shown more activity as compared with one year ago. Business is of a more settled as well as healthier character and finances in decidedly better shape. The outlook for summer trading is favorable to a steady business but there is nothing that promises decided activity.

The New York American Grocer just at hand says: "One of the very best informed peach growers, whose crop goes into his cans, and who is, therefore, not interested in bulling green markets, says: 'A short crop is expected the present summer, as the extraordinary drought which prevailed in Delaware, Maryland and Virginia last summer and fall, stopped the growth of nearly every green thing.'" Good New York state bartletts, twos and threes, are scarce and will bring $2@3 respectively. The demand is fair. California bartletts are slower and bring $2 75@3 50 as to brand. New salmon is offered at $1 17½ delivered from Columbia river. Old sold at $1 20@1 25 for spot.

The State of California carried out 900 cs salmon from George W Hume and [illegible] cs from Astoria Packing Company.

Overland receipts in 1 day: 7 sks seed, 10 [illegible], 150 cs lard, 5 bbls sugar, 150 hf candles, 30 pkgs groceries, 462 cs, 100 ctes starch, 25 bxs tin, 12 bxs nails, 8 pkgs tobacco.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 24 hours: 1217 ctls wheat, 886 bbls flour, 84[illegible] ctls oats, 36 ctls bran, [illegible] ctls millstuff, 252 lbs wool, 5080 lbs hides, 194 cs eggs, 49 bxs fruit, 16 pkgs butter. Also 6538 ctls wheat, 100 bbls flour, 13 ctls oats, 86 150 lbs wool, 10,590 lbs hides from the eastern section.

FREIGHTS—The loading fleet by reason of last clearances is reduced to three vessels registering [illegible] tons, the disengaged fleet registering [illegible] tons. Rumor to-day had it that an iron bark had been fixed for direct loading but it could be traced to no good source. The San Francisco market seems tending to more weakness, although owners appear firm enough.

WHEAT—Small business done and this by millers. Valley is offered at $1 40, with $1 37½ bid. Weaker markets reported from abroad to-day under more peaceful war news. American markets as a rule hold up well in the face of this. The probable effect of established peace upon the grain markets is now being considered. It is argued that prices will show no great decline and cannot fall back to the old range. Chances of war being removed, the course of the foreign market will largely hinge upon the American reports of visible supply and crop prospects. The time of year is coming when visible supplies show a sharp reduction as new calculations are made. Should the current year be no exception to the general rule, American supplies may be expected to dwindle. Crop prospects are conceded to be bad and no one expects more than a four fifths crop in America. These influences in themselves may be sufficient to prevent price changes for the worse. All outside considerations aside, the local market promises to rule quite steady as the mills will require all of our surplus.

OATS—Receipts light for local account and the market continues firm although San Francisco is weakened by larger offerings. As an extreme for choice feed 36c is quoted, and anything more is uncertain, yet fancy feed might bring 37c.

MILLSTUFF—Light request, demands being freely supplied. Bran alone shows any firmness.

POTATOES—No buying for export and the movement is a light one. Common varieties quoted 1[illegible]@15c.

PROVISIONS—Call only fair and values are hardly steady, extremes not generally realized. Quote jobbing values: City cured hams 11@12c, bacon 9@10c, shoulders 6@7c; country cured, generally ½@1c lower; eastern hams 13@15c, bacon 10@11c. Lard steady for choice but common is slow sale; quote choice eastern tins 10½@11c, choice pails local 10½@11c, kegs and large tins local 8@9c.

DRIED FRUIT—Quote jobbing values: Sun cured apples and pears 4@5c, factory do 5@8c, prunes 8@10c, plums 8@10c, peaches 12½@13c, new raisins, $2 25 per full box.

BUTTER—Dealing mostly confined to local grades, near by sources of supply meeting the bulk of the demand. [illegible] range from 8c for poor to 25c for choice.

CHICKENS—Hardly so firm and $5@5 50 are extreme figures had.

EGGS—The market is without new interest. Quote 12@12½c.

WOOL—A shipment of new clip baled has gone east. The market is quiet with about all the trading done in the interior.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, May 2—Governments quiet and strong, 4s advancing ⅛, while 3s yielded to 102⅝. The week closed at the stock exchange to-day without material change in the general situation. The market continues very dull, but at the same time is very firmly held. Advocates of higher prices in the near future insist that stocks are nearly all lodged in strong hands, making it practically impossible for the bears to shake out any considerable amount by the hammering process. Prices were a shade lower this morning on a renewed attack by the bears upon the whole list, but declines were very small, and during the remainder of the day the market continued dull and strong until late in the afternoon, when it yielded a fraction, but closed firm at the declines. Union Pacific and Missouri made net gains of ⅛. Some of the leading bull operators claim to have been letting the market alone simply to demonstrate its inherent strength, and that a decided upward movement will be started next week, in which Union Pacific, Western Union, Lackawanna, Northwestern, Missouri, Kansas and Texas and Pacific Mail will be prominent stocks. There is renewed talk of an effort to induce the Union Pacific directors to resume dividends on July 1st. Total sales this week have amounted to only 5[illegible]0,000 shares, a decrease from last week of 250,000 shares. Changes in prices as compared with last Saturday are unimportant, in most cases for less than 1 per cent. Omaha preferred is ¾ lower.

The Mail and Express says: The demand for mining shares was not heavy to-day. Standard was a feature of trading, advancing from $[illegible] 10 to $[illegible] 20, with numerous transactions. Among other sales were Sierra Nevada at 95, Plymouth 16⅞, Gold Stripe 5, Navajo $1 55, Horn Silver $2 15, Green Mountain 45, Sutro Tunnel 15 and Standard $1 15@1 25.

SHIPPING INTELLIGENCE

SHIPPING NOTES

The British Monarch and Oban Bay, which sailed for Queenstown, passed out to-day.

The Queen of Cambria went to Altona, the City of [illegible] to London, and the Mary Law to Stockton to discharge.

The Bessie Markham arrived at Dunkirk April 6, to discharge, and the Mary Hardell arrived at Hull April 28.

The Bankdale passed the Isle of Wight last Thursday, 107 days hence.

The British ship Falstaff, at Liverpool via Cork, had port forward boat, after hatch and ventilators smashed and other damage done by being struck by a heavy sea.

Capt. Jordan of the ship R D Rice at Liverpool from San Francisco, writes back that the clipper ship South American, Capt Lowle, could not sail for sour apples, as the Rice had no trouble in getting away from her. Yet the ships were in company 13 days and the Rice was 118 days to Liverpool while the South American was [illegible] days to Dublin. Evidently Capt Jordan is joking.

Br ship Nagpore, Hull for Port Moody, was spoken March 5 in 19 N, 26 W, 45 days out.

The charter rates paid by the British government for transatlantic steamships for use as cruisers are 12s 6d per month per registered gross ton where the government furnishes crew, and 22s 6d where the steamer furnishes crew. At the first rate the Alaska would receive $20 736 per month, the Arizona $15 4?2, the Umbria $23 400, the Oregon $? ?25 and the America $16 584. Their charters run six months with privilege of purchasing. The Alaska's coal capacity is 4000 tons and she burns 253 tons daily, the Oregon 337 tons, the America 182 tons and the Umbria about 300 tons.

Grace Bros. Valparaiso freight circular of March [illegible]th quotes handy iron for wheat to U K, at 28s 9d or 31s 9d to continent from Talcahuano bay. The spot disposal list is only 36,007 tons and that to arrive in two months [illegible] tons.

EUGENE NOTES

EUGENE, May 2

Hon J K Weatherford, of Linn county, is in town.

Mr J L Rollins, proprietor of the Brownsville Woolen Mills establishment, is ill.

Mr Norris Humphrey, who has been spending the winter in California, has returned.

F G Abell, the metropolitan photographer, is here taking the pictures of the senior class.

The Eugene Choral Society gave a concert at Bincham's hall last evening. They had a fair audience.

The Woman's Relief Corps of the G A R is making extensive preparations for the observation of Decoration Day.

Rev W G Simpson, of the Methodist church, has gone to Corvallis to supply the place of P F Rev J D Driver, who will occupy the other's pulpit here.

T C Judkins, an alumnus of the State university class of '83, more recently a resident of Washington, D C, is expected home in a few days. "Cy" will find a warm welcome awaiting him.

Mrs H C Humphrey and Miss Bettie Shaw, both of this place, were recently united in marriage by Rev G W Izer, at the residence of the latter in San Francisco. They will soon return to Eugene to take up their residence.

At the classmeeting on the occasion of the centenary services of the Methodist church, held two or three weeks ago, five or six spoke who had been members of the M E church for fifty years and upwards. Mr and Mrs D R Christian arose together, standing, as they had walked, fifty years side by side in the same church home.

H J Johnson of the firm of McClung & Johnson, who went east some time ago to try and effect a sale of hops, has just returned. Although he had samples of a magnificent lot of 275,000 pounds, he could get no reasonable offer. He sold a few at 12½c. The growers of Lane county will try to stand the pressure and will hold on to their hops until they can get better prices.

The Alexandrian Society will meet at the residence of F M Wilkins next Monday evening. This is their last meeting of the year. Misses Nettie McCornack and Mae Underwood, and Messrs J N Goltra and W T Fakin are on the programme for literary productions. The music for the evening is under the direction of W H Gove and C Collier.

Mr Haines the tanner, has just returned from San Francisco, where he had gone to dispose of a couple of car loads of leather. It may not be generally known that leather from this tannery is readily sold in San Francisco at 10c more a pound than any other leather brought to that market. Whether this superiority depends upon the excellence of the materials used or the skill of the operatives, I am unable to say.

There are just enough of the senior class of the state university this year for the offices. H F McClure is valedictorian (selected by the faculty). Miss Anna Patterson, president. R F Reasoner, reader of the class poem, and D W Ross is selected to deliver the address at the planting of the class tree. The three latter were elected by the class. Had it been as easy to parcel out the honors in matters of state—had there been as many coveted positions in proportion to the number of aspirants, as in this class, there would have been no need of the governor calling an extra session of the legislature.

THE CALIFORNIA CROPS.

A Falling off in Grain—Gain in Fruit

San Francisco Chronicle, April 9

A few counties report a slightly increased acreage in grain, some about the same as last year and many a decreased area. Those which report a probable decreased yield of grain are: El Dorado, two-thirds of last year's crop; Colusa and Fresno, half a crop; Solano, half a crop, in consequence of injuries by the Hessian fly and dry weather; Sacramento, half a crop; San Benito, half a crop with a discouraging outlook; Merced, one third that of 1884 in wheat and four-fifths in barley; Sonoma, a failure in oats, but an average crop of barley; San Joaquin, not more than one half a crop; Tulare, one quarter that of last year, but has abundant; Marin, a failure in oats; San Mateo, one third less than average, but hay double; Tehama, 60 per cent of a good crop; Napa, average, about one third that of 1884, farmers having turned to fruit; Santa Barbara, half a crop; Tulare, two-thirds to three-fourths of a good crop. In Monterey more rain is needed and the bug has damaged the grain; acreage the same as last year. In Stanislaus crop in the irrigated districts are reported a failure, but there is an increased acreage in fruit. There is no estimate of crops in Nevada county, but stockmen complain of short pasturage. Shasta is about the only county which reports an increase of the wheat crop over last year, and there the gain will be only 15 per cent. Kern reports a good prospect, with about 18,000 acres in wheat and 5000 in barley. Vines to the number of 6000 have been set out and 12,000 fruit trees. San Bernardino claims an acreage in grain larger than that of 1884, but most of it will be cut for hay. Fruit looks well.

The fruit districts report a largely increased acreage and generally a promising crop. The counties which show the greatest increase in acreage are El Dorado, Sacramento, Santa Clara, Yuba, Sonoma, Shasta and Santa Barbara.

LEE ON GRANT

Grant's Generous Action in Lee's Surrender Described by General Lee

Lee's interview with Chaplain Pepper in 1865, in New York Sun

"I wish," said General Lee, "to do simple justice to General Grant, when I say that his action toward my army is without a parallel in the annals of nations. When my poor soldiers, with their famished faces, having neither food nor raiment, hungry and footsore, came before him in the hour of surrender, it was then that General Grant immediately issued the humane order that forty thousand rations should be given to them. And that was not all. I was giving orders to one of my subordinate officers, who was making out the list of things to be surrendered. I told him to include the horses. At that very moment General Grant, who seemed to be paying no attention to what was going on, quickly rose from the camp stool and said: 'No, no, General Lee, no surrender of the horses. Not one, not one. Keep them all. Your poor people will need them for the spring crops.' It was a scene never to be forgotten."

As Lee spoke he paced the room, and with tears streaming down his cheeks, repeated two or three times this incident of the surrender.

I then asked him whom he thought to be the greatest of federal soldiers? "Indeed, sir, judged by Napoleon's test of 'Who did all that,' General Grant is the greatest of living American or European soldiers."

PERSONAL AND GENERAL

The governor general of Canada receives a salary of $50 000 a year.

Ex Senator Pendleton, now to go as minister to Germany, is said to be worth $2 000 000.

Queen Victoria is said to have mounted in silver the ball that killed Admiral Nelson.

Ex Marshal Bazaine of France is living in Madrid in dire poverty. He is almost compelled to beg public charity.

Queen Victoria's only surviving aunt, the duchess of Cambridge, has not been outside of St James' palace for twenty years.

Mr Blaine will give up his Washington house in June and go to his old home in Augusta, where he will spend most of the summer.

Russia has a population of about 100 000 000, has a public debt of about $150 000 000, and spends about $10 000 000 a year above her revenues.

James Garfield, the oldest son of the late president, is tall, blonde and athletic. Harry, his brother, is short, dark and wears brown side whiskers.

Ex Khedive Ismail is a comparatively rich man. More than $100 000 000 has been paid in to his account at various European banks, principally in Holland and Belgium.

As a token of reverence to the memory of Robert E Lee, the confederate chieftain, the river steamers in passing his old home, Arlington, toll their bells and dip their colors.

Truly an Inspiriting Sight

San Francisco Post

The militia of Victoria, British Columbia, have been notified by their commander that in case of an emergency they will be notified by an alarm of the fire bell. In the event of the news of a declaration of war arriving, Victoria during the silent watches of the night, it will be an inspiriting sight when the loud bell rings out its wild alarm to see the Victoria militiaman jumping from his couch and, with his boots in one hand and his breeches in the other, hastening on the dead run for Afghanistan.

Jeff Davis' Political Status.

Chicago Inter Ocean

Jeff Davis, under the proclamation of President Andrew Johnson, is a citizen of the United States with every right except that to hold office. From this he is debarred by the fourteenth amendment to the constitution, which provides that such right can only be restored to Davis' class by a vote of two-thirds of congress. The petition to Grover and to restore him to his political rights is wasted [illegible].

Why "Sunset" Cox Goes to Turkey

From a private letter printed in the Baltimore Sun: You and others wonder why I leave a prominent place in congress for a mission to Turkey. Well, first, many things tended to make me feel that I lagged somewhat superfluous on that stage. My faculties and qualities, just as they are, never were in better condition, and the equipment of a quarter of a century for the work of debate, of committee, and legislation was as nearly rounded on every theme as a sturdy and a stern sense of duty could make them. But the advent of new men, as is natural, has pushed me to the rear, so that while abreast, if not ahead of my party on most themes, I was not able even to command my old and favorite foreign committeeship or my former Smithsonian regentship, always accorded to me even by republicans; besides, so much work in congress and no results—the rolling, rolling, rolling up of the stone which rolled down "with a resulting bound"—the foolish modes and rules, which few in control cared little to correct—all this, and more, made me think it was high time to seek the land of sleep and rest on the banks of the Bosphorus. Besides, without the intervention of any one save a kind word from a Missouri and a Tennessee member, this Oriental compliment came to me directly, gracefully, and spontaneously from the president alone. The senate gave me a confirmation quite complimentary without referring it, and those facts, together with my pleasant reminiscences of the happy days spent in the olden capital of the Greek empire (upon two visits to the Orient) were predominating reasons why I propose to have a respite in the land of the Ottoman.

But will it be a respite? Is not the old capital of eastern empire still, as ever, the nucleus of intrigue, diplomacy, and contention? Are not the eagles gathering over the hills of the Bosphorus? Is not Afghanistan found via Constantinople? Is not the sultan the caliph? and is not the head of 90,000,000 Moslems in Europe, Asia and Africa concerned about the Jehad and its Arator, El Mahdi? What scenes may not be witnessed—safely—under our flag from the heights above the "Golden Horn" within the next four years? Besides, I have a great fancy for the Orient and for the sultan. He bears himself nobly. I once wrote of him in my "Orient Sunbeams," which you may read at length, as a monarch for whom I had an enthusiasm—"a king every inch" without any dramatic ostentation. You will understand that better than most men. I express my admiration for his individuality and ability, his self-reliance and his inborn dignity.

This preconception and pre-expression ought to give me grace in his sight after oriental methods, and enable me to be useful to our country and its commerce in case great emergencies eventuate out of the oriental imbroglio.

An Artful Dog

A correspondent of the London Spectator gives the following: One summer afternoon a group of children were playing at the end of a pier which projects into Lake Ontario, near Kingston. The proverbial careless child of the party made the proverbial backward step off from the pier into the water. None of his companions could save him, and their cries had brought no one from shore, when, just as he was sinking for the third time, a superb Newfoundland dog rushed down the pier into the water and pulled the boy out. Those of the children who did not accompany the boy home took the dog to a confectioner's on the shore, and fed him with so great a variety of cakes and other sweets as he would eat. So far the story is, of course, only typical of scores of well known cases. The individuality of this case is left to the sequel. The next afternoon the same group of children were playing at the same place, when the canine hero of the day before came tottering down to them with the most friendly wags and nods. There being no occasion this time for supplying him delicacies, the children only stroked and patted him. The dog, however, had not come out of pure sociability. A child in the water and cakes and candy stood to him in the close and obvious relation of cause and effect, and if this relation was not clear to the children he resolved to impress it upon them. Watching his chance, he crept up behind the child who was standing nearest to the edge of the pier, gave a sudden push, which sent him into the water, then sprang in after him, and gravely brought him to shore.

Why He Didn't Remove the Grip Sack

"Will you be kind enough to take that grip-sack off that seat?" said a countryman who got on a train at Euling.

"No, sir. I don't propose to do anything of the sort," replied the drummer who was sitting on the other side of the seat.

"Do you say that you are going to let that grip sack stay right there?"

"Yes, sir. I do."

"In case you don't remove that grip sack I shall be under the painful necessity of calling the conductor."

"You can call the conductor, the engineer and the brakeman if you want to. Perhaps you had better stop at the next station and send a special to old Jay Gould himself about it."

"The conductor will put you off the train."

"I don't care if he does. I am not going to take that grip-sack from the place where it is."

The indignant passenger went through the train and soon returned with the conductor.

"So you refuse to remove that grip-sack, do you?" asked the conductor.

"I do."

Great sensation.

"Why do you persist in refusing to remove that grip-sack?"

"Because it's not mine."

"Why didn't you say so at once?"

"Because nobody asked me."—Texas Siftings

The Narrow Gauge Road

Polk County Itemizer, 2d Inst

This week the people of Polk county have come to realize the hard fact that the narrow gauge was taking a step backward instead of forward. It is claimed that sufficient funds to run the road are lacking and the consequences are that all the station agents, section men, watchmen and extra men who could possibly be dispensed with were discharged. The train is being run with as small a force as is absolutely necessary. The prospects for a first-class transportation line in this county are surely not very flattering, although this state of things cannot last very long. Several places along the road the preparation of elevators for storing wheat this fall was spoken of, but the recent changes have caused the projectors to stand back and wait for further developments as they claim they do not wish to take the risk of storing wheat and then not be able to ship it. We understand the suspension of help has caused a reduction of $100 per month and those earning that money were mostly men of families. While it is not only unprofitable to the employes it will make a material difference in trade. Farmers all along the road say they will not store one bushel of grain on the narrow gauge line this fall unless a great change for the better takes place. We understand that Mr Scott, the receiver, says the reduction of the forces and transportation facilities were absolutely necessary to insure the running of trains at all. It is hoped by the people throughout the valley that some beneficial step may soon be taken to make the road a first class transportation line.
